RATIFIED BY MANHATTAN.

THE SARATOGA TICKET AND PLATFORM SUIT EVERYBODY.

A Mearty Reception to the Candidates at the Non-factional Home of Democracy in Fifth Avenue-Men in Business Suits and Evening Bress Touch Elbows-The Mayor's Pink Shirt and Cream-colored Necktle.

The Manhattan Club testified to its alert Democracy last evening by a non-factional atification demonstration in ratification of the Saratoga ticket. The meeting was held in the beautiful billiard room, which was the art gal-lery of the Stewart mansion when the Rosa Bonheur of the Metropolitan Mu-seum of Art and other treasures of millionaire merchant's collection. The tables rows of chairs, while the cue racks were hidden behind red, white, and blue bunting. President Frederick R. Coudert and Secretary David B. Gilbert occupied the little platform at the head of the room against a background of flags that surrounded an oil painting of

Gen. Jackson in full uniform.

The company was a notable one, men of sence in all walks of life being present olid business men and substantial officials plainly dressed and of serious mein and mind mixed with club men just from dinner in full dress and an air of expectant interest for the excitement of a political meeting. Mayor Grant's appearance was typical of the first mentioned class. He wore a plain business suit, the coat being of sack cut. His at was a pearl-colored soft one, and though his collar was white linen an occasional glimpse ld be seen of his pink striped cheviot shirt behind his cream-colored four-in-hand tie. The gathering included John C. Calhoun. Willis S. Paine, J. Edward Simmons, Percival Farquhar, W. H. Hamersley, Auditor Lyons, J. Bleecker Miller, William T. Andrews, Col. George B. McClellan, Harry Macdona, John F. McIntyre, Jonn Delahunty, Isadore Wormser, J. Sergeant Cram, Herman Ridder, Charles J. Canda, C. C. The object was to ratify the Demo-cratic nominations. After Secretary Gilbert had read the call Mr. John H. Inman offered the following resolutions:

The Manhattan Chub was founded for the advancement of Democratic principles. In furtherance of this mission it has been deemed becoming and expedient, whenever occasion required, to assert its sympathy with and approval of all measures calculated to protect the success of the Democratic party. Roger Foster's rising to speak caused at sir. He was one of the County Democracy delegation that was refused admission to the Baratoga Convention, and his words were eagerly listened to for some indication of the probable course of that organization in reference to the Btata ticket that came out of the convention they could not get into. Mr. Foster alluded to the subject very premptly and said that he held to his opinion that it was a political mistake and an injustice. But he added that it would be highly unjust to hold Roswell P. Flower in any way responsible for the action he complained of. He then alluded to his appreciation of the importance of victory, and said that the records of previous campaigns showed that the Democrats always won victories in this State when they were harmohlous and united. And this was the result he expected to see this fall when the votes of the people would turn off this Fassett so that they would no longer be disturbed by the driblets of eloquence from it.

Ex-Postmaster Joseph C. Hendrix of Brooklyn, though a member of the club, stays across the bridge so closely that a great many of the members did not recognize him when he rose to speak. But before he had said many words they asked their better posted neighbors for his mame and settled down with great interest to hear his excellent speech. Mr. Hendrix evidently counted on not being known to all of his hearers. So he began by telling them that he came from Brooklyn, a city that shelters 850.000 people; a city that has grown great under the sgis of the metropolis; a city connected with New York had helped to pay for. He then referred to the feeling in Brooklyn that they ought to have a Governor to justify their existence, to vindicate their metropolitan claims. They had asked the place for an able and capable young gentleman who had been twice Mayor of the city and was known throughout the State by reason of having been C

Mr. Hendrix continued with references to the ticket as safe in Kings county, where the Democrates doctrine of abiding in the will of the majority. The choice of the ticket, he said, was made on strictly Democratic lines. The Convention was not controlled by the voice of Tammany Hall, nor did it give its allegiance to the choice of a puppet at the will of a dictator who played as with an automaton with the head of one of our greatest institutions of learning until he could set the stage for his marionette.

John C. Tomlinson also spoke, and then the resolutions were adopted.

All of this time there had been no sign of the appearance of the candidates, though a reception in their honor was down on the programme as the feature of the evening, and in putting a motion to adjoorn Mr. Coudert said that he had the pleasure of announcing that they had just arrived, and the reception would be held in the big parlor on the Fifth avenue side. There Mr. Flower, Mr. Sheehan, Mr. Rosendale, and Mr. Schenck met and shook hands with the members of the club, and a chatty, informal hour was pleasantly spent. No speeches were made there or at the collation down stairs, to which the party was afterward conducted.

A quiet wedding, with a very pretty choral ervice, took place at 5 o'clock yesterday afteroon in the Church of the Transfiguration. in East Twenty-ninth street, near Fifth avenue. The bride was Miss Clara Lyon, the daughter of Mrs. Catharine Lyon, who formerly resided in Seventh avenue, Prospect Heights, Brooklyn, and the bridegroom Mr. Edward Moire of Marcellus, N. Y. The bride, a tall, handsome brunette, was led to the altar and given away by her brother, Mr. Charles Lyon. wore a beautiful reception gown of white corded silk and a small white bonnet trimmed with white ostrich tips. Instead of a bouquet, she carried an ivory-bound prayer book, from which the marriage service was read by the Rev. George Clark Houghton of Holy Trinity Church, Hoboken, a nephew of the rector of the Church of the Transfiguration. Miss Bessie Mead was the maid of honor. Her dress was of white cloth and embroidered chiffon, and a large white cloth hat, trimmed with white plumes, completed the costume. Mr. William E. Paton of Sherbrooke, Canada, and the dress of the property of the pr William E. Paton of Sherbrooke, Canada, attended the bridegroom as best man, and Messrs. William P. Howe and James Emmons of this city were the ushers.

A small reception followed the ceremony at the new home of the bride's mother. 13 East Thirty-second street. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Luke K. Lockwood, Miss Lockwood, Mr. Arthur T. Sullivan, Mr. Theodore Vail, Mr. Howard Randolph, Mrs. Lyon, Mrs. Mesd, Mrs. Andrew Paton of Sherbrooke, Canada; Mrs. W. F. Miss Hen menover, who was given away by her mother was attired in a gown of white corded silk draped with embroidered chiffon, and wore a white silk tulle veil, which was fastened with a spray of orange blossoms and several small jewelled pins. Her bouquet was of white roses and illies of the valley. The two bridesmaids, Miss Barah Tunis of Morristown, N. J., and Miss Mary Woodford of Detroit, cousins of the bride, wore pink chiffon, and each carried a loose bunch of Catharine Mermetrosea. There was no heat man. The ushers were Mr. Allan Bacon. Mr. James P. Hendrick, Mr. Robert Olcott, and Mr. Thomas I. Van Antwerp of Albany. A reception for the family and intimate friends followed. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., of Boston, were married to-day in the First Parish Church in Brookline in the presence of 1,500 guests. The bride was escorted by her father and attended by her little sister, Dorothy Amory, who was the maid of honor. The groom and est man. Mr. Gordon Abbott, were waiting at best man. Mr. Gordon Abbott, were waiting at the church. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Howard N. Brown, pastor of the church. The groom entered Harvard College at the age of 20 and was elected President of the freahman class. He was Secretary of the Hasty Pudding Club in his junior year and Vice-President in his senior year. He was also a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and at one time was manager of the University baseball nine. He is now President of the Old Colony Trust Company. He was one of the founders of the Young Men's Democratic Club in 1858, and since then has been a member of the executive committee of that organization. He is a member of the Puritan, Bomerset, Country, and Eastern Yacht Clubs, and is also a member of the First Corps of Cadets.

TEMPORARY HEADQUARTERS ENGINEERING

THE DEMOCRATIC WORKERS AT THE HOFFMAN HOUSE.

Testerday's Visitors Who Brought Mes-sages of the Most Cheering Sort-The Committee on Registration. Boom 311 of the Hoffman House was the centre of Democratic political interest again yes-terday. Indeed it might well be described as a campaign headquarters, the State Committee not having yet opened the rooms that will be used for that purpose. Chairman Murphy and Clerk De Freest travelled up to Troy in the afternoon to complete their arrangements for ting the rooms ready and the staff organized.

took in which to meet those who wished to see him, as it was rather out of the way for them to travel up to Forty-eighth street to his house or down town to his office. Though these visitors were many, there was still plenty of room for Executive Committee Chairman Griffin, with a travelling hat protecting his hald head and a very business-like air, to bustle about and see and talk to everybody. There was room for Col. Lamont to be as brisk whatever he wanted to know about any part of the State. There was room and a big sleepy hollow chair for D. Cady Herrick, whose pres ence and assistance are highly prized despite the fact that he claims the privilege of taking things easy, as he came down to the city to take a rest and has his wife with him. There was room for Thomas S. Spratt, the vell-known Magone and Cleveland Democrat of Ogdensburg to make a glow with redder hair than Candidate Sheehan's, and to tell the Democrats that the Republican expectation concerning St. Lawrence county were too rosy n color for fall weather on the banks of the St. Lawrence. There was room for Gen. St. Lawrence. There was room for Gen. Henry W. Slocum of Brooklyn, who paraded in Saratoga with the Chapin boomers, and he told all concerned to have no fears about the earnestness of the support the ticket would have in Kings county. Mark D. Wilbur. James W. Ridgway, and other Brooklynites supported this statement. There was room for Robert Grier Monroe and room for Col. Michael C. Murphy, the veteran who is ready for a position at the front after being on sick leave so long. There was room for J. C. Sheehan, the Tammany leader of the Thirteenth, and even room for the broad smile with which he dispossed of the Gibbs inspired story that his leadership rests on unsettled foundations. And some of his fellow members of the General Committee endorsed his disclaimer that there was any trouble, and told how Mr. Sheehan was the unanimous choice of the district when elected and is stronger in the organization now than ever before. There was room for Candidate William F. Sheehan to see as many people and to receive as many congratulations as Mr. Flower while he was there. But he was away from early in the morning until after lunch time, despite the fact that a fake story of a meeting of the committee was printed in an afternoon paper yesterday at which his blue eyes are described as blazing with fire enough to make the Hoffman House an extra hazardous insurance risk. Mr. Sheehan was not at the meeting. There was no meeting. The rest of the story is equally untrue.

There was room for quite a number of representative Tammany men in the improvised headquarters. They came is at various times and stopped a few minutes to offer congratulations and to discuss the situation, the same as other visitors. Among them were Richard Croker, Corporation Counsel William H. Clark, President E. P. Barker of the Department of Taxes and Assessments, Assemblymen Blumenthal. Connelly, and Stein, and the Hon. Thomas F. Grady.

Among the callers were J. J. Richardson, the Democracy; Col. John H. Mooney, John A. Mason. Candidates Rosendale and Henry W. Slocum of Brooklyn, who paraded in saratoga with the Chapin boomers, and of this city were the ushers.

A small reception followed the ceremony at the new home of the bride's mother, 13 East Thirty-second street. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Luke K. Lockwood, Miss Lockwood, Mr. Arthur T. Sullivan, Mr. Theodore Vall, Mr. Howard Randolph, Mrs. Lyon, Mrs. Mead, Mrs. Andrew Paton of Sherbrooke, Canada; Mrs. W. F. Myron of St. Paul, Minn.; Miss Winifred Moire of Marcellus, and Miss Lockwood of Riverside, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Moire will pass their honeymoon in the West.

Thillaghast-Hemmenover,

Miss Caroline Hemmenover, the daughter of Mrs. S. G. Hemmenover, was married at 7% o'clock last evening to Mr. Frederick Tillinghast of Albany. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Arthur Brooks, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, took place in

BUSY IN ANOTHER DEBATE.

Why Col. Fellows Won't Accept Mayor

At a mass meeting held in Astoria on Tuesday evening at the invitation of the recently he is counsel. Col. John R. Fellows attacked Mayor Gleason. Yesterday Mayor Gleason challenged Col. Fellows to an open debate on "Municipal Government in Long Island City," time and place to be agreed upon. The Mayor offers to pay Col. Fellows $100 and expenses. At the Manhattan Club last night Col. Fellows said he had not yet received Mayor Gleason's challenge, and that when he did he would not accept it, as his time was about to be occupied by a debate of greater importance, a discussion of the question whether ex-Senator Platt or Roswell P. WATERTOWN, Sept. 30.-Wilbur F. Porter, Mayor of this city, was to-day nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Twentysecond district. Mr. Porter accepts the nomi-nation in response to a pressing demand from leading men in the district, regardless of political affiliations. A few days ago, through a litical affiliations. A few days ago, through a piece of political jugglery that disgusted two-thirds of the Republican voters. Gen. N. M. Curtis of Ogdensburg was made the Republican candidate. He is known as a bolter of Republican nominations and a political trickster fror; way back. As there must be another election next year, no one sees any harm in defeating Curtis, and, though the district is Republican by 8,000, bets are even that Mayor Porter will be the next Congressman. Although opposed by a popular Republican for Mayor, Forter ran nearly a thousand votes ahead of his ticket in this city last year.

A DEADLOCKED BENATE CONVENTION Madison and Otsego Countles Claim Sheard's

Seat in the Senate. UTICA, Sept., 30.-The Republican Senate Convention for the Twenty-third district met at Bogg's Hotel to-day, and, without any nom-inating speeches, took 151 ballots, all of which stood: Titus Sheard of Herkimer, 6; David F. Wilbur of Otsego, 6; John F. Smith of Madison, 6. Adjournment was then taken until 9 A. M. to-morrow. The delegates brought their trunks this time. Two years ago the Convention lasted three weeks, and then Platt sent a Sheard, and it did so, beating the late Frank Arnold. There is no telling how long this Convention will continue.

The district is made up of Herkimer. Otsego. and Madison counties, and rotation has been the order. Herkimer county had the first and last candidate since the formation of the dis-trict, and each has had a Senator twice, and no trict, and each has had a Senator twice, and no man has had two consecutive terms. Otsego and Madison claim that the rotation business should go on, while Herkimer says that the best man should have the nomination, and, of course, thinks Sheard the best man. A curious feature of the situation is that Platt is said to favor Smith, but that Fassett insists that Sheard shall be the man. Those who hang around the outside of conventions and guess on the result think Wilber the most probable nominee. Otsego and Herkimer are in the same Congress district, and Sheard may go for Wilber with the promise of the nomination for Congress next year. As yet the delegates, avow their determination to stand by their candidates, but conferences are being held, and each county is trying to bring another to its way of thinking.

Brother Charles Steckler Closeted With the Lieut.-Gov. Edward F. Jones has paid nother mysterious visit to the city, which nded at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He staved at the Park Avenue Hotel, and by a oincidence the name of Joneson appeared on the register, causing it to be suspected that the Binghamton statesman was anxious to be concealed behind an amplified name as well as his ample moustache. This was not entirely real, sure enough Joneson at the hotel. But just the same. He told the clerks that it would be no use to send any reporters' cards up, and he had no callers except Charles Steckler, a gentleman whose political stand-ing is on the foundation of a family grievance just as that of Jones is founded on a personal just as that of Jones is founded on a personal grievance.

What will result from this putting together of soreheads may not yet be discerned. They do not know even down in the Tenth district, formerly known as Stecklerville, what these conferences portend. But down there they do know what the Stecklerites are up to. The fact of an alliance between them, and the Republicans is thoroughly understood in the Tenth. The personal party people will be delivered, what there are of them, for the Republican State ticket, local ticket, and Assemblymen, while the Republican machine will be run in the interest of Harburger for Senator.

FASSETT IN MALONE.

He Arouses Some Real Enthusiasm in the

MALONE, Sept. 30.-Senator Fassett and Mr. Vrooman arrived at Malone from Ogdensburg pranted by Col. A. F. Baxter of Elmira, Senator Erwin, Gen. Curtis, and other St. Lawrence Republicans. They were received courteously and cordially, but with no such enthusiasm as marked their journey through other parts of the State. Malone is proverbially an undemonstrative town, and politics here have not yet reached fever heat. A reception was held by Senator Fassett and Mr. Vrooman at the Court House for an hour and a half in the afternoon, and was attended by many citizens. The meeting this evening was the largest and best opening rally ever held in the county. The hall was crowded, and for over two hours close attention was paid to the speakers, who were Senator Fassett. Mr. Vrooman, Senator Erwin, and Gen. Baxter. Original and taking songawers endered by a glee club, and real enthusiasm grew as the meeting progressed. The unanimous verdict is that no better meeting was ever held here. proverbially an undemonstrative town, and

The sentiment of the meeting was that Mr. Harrity had demonstrated his capacity, his integrity, and his ability, and his election to fill the vacancy would be a guarantee that the Democratic interests of the State would be conserved.

QUERIES FOR MR. PLATTS YOUNG MAN. Spenker Sheehan Starts Out with More Than He Expects to Get Answers To.

Speaker William F. Shechan, the candidate for Lieutenant-Governor on the Democratic ticket will leave town this morning and for the next week will do some speechmaking. He will traverse Niagara, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, and other western counties, and will make his way gradually to the eastern counties. He proposes to reply to some of the statements of ex-Senator Platt's candidate. Mr. Platt's young man, in his speeches in Oneida, Jefferson, and St. Lawrence counties, has echoed the sentiments of his master against Tammany. He makes Tammany responsible for all the recent bad weather and essays the prediction that the equinoc-tial storms at hand will be especially evere because of the all-pervading influence of Tammany. He has obeyed orders with such wonderful precision that some of the Democrats at the Hoffman House last night recalled that three years ago, in the Senate, Senator Coggeshall, Republican to the core, sneeringly referred to Mr. Fassett on the floor of the Senate as Mr. Platt's "Tit Willow." All through the Hoffman, and even over in the corridors of the Fifth Avenue, was heard the refrain:

of rain:

On a tree by a river a little Tom-lit

Sang "Willow, tit-willow, tit-willow;"

And I said to him. "Dicky birt, why do you sit

Singing "Willow, tit-willow, tit-willow;"

"Is it weakness of intellect, birdle," I cried,
"Or a rather tough worm in your little inside "

With a not of his poor little head be replied;"
"Oh, willow, tit-willow, tit-willow;"

Mr. Sheehan, in his speeches, proposes to hit home. Mr. Fassett is expected next week in Buffalo. Mr. Sheehan luns already been there, and he has propounded these nuts for Tom-tit' Fassett to crack:

Mr. Fassett gets before the people of the State appealing for votes upon his record on labor questions. Well, I know something about his record on labor questions, because he and I both went to the Legislature about the same time. I know, and I charge deliberate, with full knowledge of what I am sayine, that Mr. Fassett has proved himself to be a bitter, unrelenting enemy and foe of the working interests of the State. I ask him why he defauted the State Frinting bill passed this year by a Democratic Assembly, demanded as it was by all the typographical unions of the State I ask him why as a leader of the State Fasset him why as a leader of the State Frinting bill the state of the State I ask him why as a leader of the State Finish and of the Senate be permitted the anti-Finish records.

I ask him why as a leader of the Rapublican Senata be permitted the bill regulating the liability of employer to employer the senata to employe an employer the senata to employe an employer the senata the permitted the Democratic measure regulating the hours of labor for poor laboring people upon sirect railroads and employer to employe the property of the senata to employ the property of the senata to employ the property of the senata to take a cation upon the Conspiracy law? I sak Mr. Fassett what measure which would give to the farmers of this State practical relief ever emanated from the Republican Senata this year or any other years I sak Mr. Fassett why it was that time and time again, long before there was any talk of a canal trug, long before there was any talk of a canal trug, long before there was any talk of a canal trug, long before there was any tought of a canal investigation, three and four years ago upon the floof of the Senata the repeatedly skied that the canals had out this and employer the senata and the complete the senata the employer of the senata that the feature of the senata the employer of the senata that the results of the senata the employer of the senata the employer of the senata the employer of the senata that they can reconcile their opposition to me with the defend of the Freedom of Worship bill in the Senata. Mr. Sheehan will pay his respects to Mr. Sheehan will pay his respects to Mr. Platt and Mr. Fassett for killing the World's Fair for New York eity.

"I charge deliberately," he says, "that New York eity, and therefore New York State, lost the World's Fair through the efforts of exsenators Thomas C. Platt and J. Sloat Fassett. And the best authority that I can bring to prove it is Republican authority. Depew said, of $300,000,000. If the Democratic party or its representatives drove this $300,000,000 out of this State then we should suffer defeat at the hands of the people. If for partisan and political purposes the Republican party or its representatives drove that giganic amount of money out of this State, and there is proof positive that that is so, then that party and its representatives should suffer defeat. defeat."
Speaker Sheehan has had a week's rest at Atlantic City. He will demand fair answers from Mr. Fassett to his pointed inquiries, but he does not expect to get them.

JERSEY'S FIREMEN.

Spirited Contests in the Tournament in At-

ATLANTIC CITY, Sopt. 30 .- A day could not have been made to order that would have been more to the taste of the several thousand peo ple who are present here as visitors or delegates to the New Jersey Firemen's State Convention. At 8 o'clock this morning the bell in the City Hall rang out a salute in honor of the Convention. An exhibition of the local Fire Department was omitted. At 10 o'clock sharp the first session of the Convention was opened at the Opera House. An address by T. A. Byrnes and the regular business of the Conention occupied the time until 1 o'clock, and it then adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

The programme of the tournament called for a hose race at 2 o'clock, and only one company started. Alfred Leroy Hose of Cohoes, N. Y. It ran 300.yards and laid 200 feet of hose, making couplings, in 44% seconds. A hook and ladder race followed. The same company from Cohoes won, running 300 yards, putting a ladder on Haddon Hall, and a man climbing it and putting his hand on the top round in 53% seconds. Waterwitch Hook and Ladder Company of Annapolis. Md., competed. The Cohoes hoys in the hose race wore running shoes and tights, and were all sprinters of good quality. In the hook and ladder race the Annapolis company objected to the running rig of the Cohoes boys and made them put on their regular dress with ordinary shoes; but they won with the greatest ease, having their ladder in place in shorter time than the Annapolis company had run the 300 yards.

At 8:30 P. M. Atlantic avenue was lined with men, women and children, and the pyrotechnic parade and illumination by the Atlantic City Fire Department was a showy affair. The delegates had a banquet in Morris Guards Hall. The programme of the tournament called for

The Volunteers Line Up. The Volunteer Footbal! Club enters upon its fifth season with every prospect of eclipsing its former tine rec-ord. Although the season has hardly opened and al-football practice, still the team has been out on the field several times. Capt Carls has put all the candidates for positions on the team through a system of signals and tricks. The men have been lined up and various evolutions practised, such as passing, punting drop kicking, falling on the ball, and other light work. By this course of training the team promises to be quite well advanced when the playing season opens. The team is composed mainly of ex-college players, who have all had more or, less experience. Kottmon, the heavy man on the rush line, and Carle, the running the heavy man on the rush line, and Carls, the running half back, used to win giory and bruises for C. C. N. V.
